Onward Ramapo, onward Ramapo,
Crash right through that line.
Round the end - through the tackle,
Touchdown sure this time.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Onward Ramapo, onward Ramapo,
Show your loyalty.
On, Ramapo, on fight on for victory.

DEDICATION

MR. JOSEPH J. SERENO

A teacher's work does not necessarily end with his last class, for there are many other school activities that may require his participation. Probably the most time and energy consuming of these is the job of class adviser.

Mr. Joseph J. Sereno has devoted long, hard hours to making our endeavors successful. With an active interest and true concern, he has contributed worthy ideas and invaluable assistance to our many class projects. In working with Mr. Sereno, we have come to know him as our special friend. His fascinating and witty personality has made even the most tedious tasks enjoyable.

In appreciation of his efforts on our behalf as an adviser and as an educator, the Class of 1964 dedicates this yearbook to our unforgettable Mr. Joseph J. Sereno.

Editor speaks
Yearbooks do not need themes! Too often a yearbook will try to illustrate some impractical, lofty ideal and it will miserably fail to do so. Ad Astra 1964 is not mired in an excess of meaningless, pseudo-symbolic phrases. The pictures do not represent various artistic points of some esoteric theme; the writing does not record a literary flight of fancy. This yearbook is simply intended to present our school, Ramapo, as we see it every day.

SENIORS

The duties of a class adviser require much time and responsibility. For the past three years, Mr. Sereno has skillfully helped to organize such class activities as a carnival, dances and hops, class plays and proms. At football games we could find our grease-splattered adviser at the refreshment stand selling hot dogs and cooking hamburgers. In school it is a familiar sight to see Mr. Sereno clutching his bulging gray money box, dollar signs for eyes, charging down the hall to his English class.

The tremendous success of our class activities was largely due to Mr. Sereno's counseling and inspiration. These experiences have proved that we could not have made a better choice for adviser. We wish to thank Mr. Sereno for bearing with us, despite all the pitfalls and tensions, and we hope that he has enjoyed being our adviser as much as we have enjoyed having him.

JOSEPH J. SERENOClass Adviser

Introducing a new tradition to Ramapo, the Class of ' 64 presented the first Carnival. Highlighted by a side show and a vaudeville show, the Carnival included a host of other entertaining attractions. This gala project was enthusiastically received by all who attended.

Games and fun bring profit

"No, Grazia, you can't come with me."

JUNIOR PLAY

Death took a holiday for fourteen weeks while the juniors worked on their mysterious drama. The plot centered around Death, portrayed by Doug Leich, and his love for Grazia, portrayed by Jane Weinik. Grazia's leaving to spend eternity with Death brought the play to its unhappy ending. The leads tumbling off wobbly risers and make-up on costumes almost prevented the play from being produced. In spite of all these mishaps, Mr. Martin, the director, survived as a stable human being; the junior play, Death Takes A Holiday, was a success.

SENIOR OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Our class of ' 64 has been noted for its originality and success from the first year to the last. "Stardust," Carnival, Death Takes a Holiday, "Shangri-La" and Pillow Talk were all unique, and all ours.

We remember four fun-filled years, each with its own work. Year by year, as we grew more able, the work grew harder. Our activities, planned by our class officers and executive committee, ranging from informal record hops to a formal senior prom, provided funds as well as fun.

PILLOW TALK

On December 2, 1963, the curtain opened on the senior class production of Pillow Talk. The play was the result of eight weeks of hard work under the direction of Mr. Martin, aided by student director, Steve Deay.

Pillow Talk is about a young interior decorator, Jan Morrow, who has a great deal of trouble with a talkative playboy on her party line. To make the various phone conversations more effective, the stage was divided, showing Jan's apartment on one side and playboy Brad Allen's on the other side. One of the highlights of the play was when Jan, in a fit of rage, changed Brad's apartment into a decorator's nightmare.

After many hours of work, sleepless nights, uncompleted homework assignments and vows to forget the whole thing, the cast and crews found out that it was really worth it after all.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

In order to provide students with the best possible education, the Board of Education works to improve facilities and obtain an excellent faculty. Serving as a link between the public and the administration, the Board members endeavor to maintain Ramapo's reputation as one of the finest schools in the East.

DAVID T. ROSSSuperintendent

For the past four years, Mr. Ross has competently performed the varied administrative duties of a school superintendent. He has helped to achieve the fine reputation for which Ramapo is known today. Through his genuine interest in the students, Mr. Ross has encouraged us to meet the future with confidence and hope.

Policies adapted

 to split sessions

LANGLEY G. CLAXTON Principal

Our principal Mr. Claxton has done much to help us through our four years of high school. His efforts to coordinate the faculty and students have provided for a more efficiently run school. We appreciate the help he has given us both individually and collectively.

Administrative

 assistants carry out planned policies

EDWARD WATTS

Assistant Principal
It is the assistant principal's job to aid the principal in making our school a smooth-running institution. He carries the burden of scheduling all classes and students, plus supervising the instructors. In addition to executing the many duties and responsibilities of his administrative position, Mr. Edward Watts is in charge of all finances for our American Field Service Chapter.

J. Sereno, V. Smith, W. Woods.

ASSISTANTS TO THE PRINCIPAL

The program of split sessions this year created an unprecedented amount of work for both faculty and administration. Mr. Joseph Sereno, Miss Victorine Smith and Mr. William Woods helped handle the problems arising from this situation. In addition to regular teaching schedules, their duties included student discipline and coordination of attendance records. Their efforts helped to maintain the well-regulated organization necessary for an effective student-faculty relationship.

J. Harris, O. Westa, P. Dentz, P. Heenehan, Head; A. Colbert, E. McGordy.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Our guidance department is responsible for preparing each one of us for both the present and the future. The department helps us in planning our high school program, participating in various testing programs, obtaining college interviews, applying for working papers and choosing a vocation.

Seated: B. Mclnerney, G. McGuire, E. Jacobson, Head; J. Gere, E. Feitelson. Standing: C. Martin, R. LaConte, J. Sereno, D. Downs, D. Brower, J. Curley, M. Smith, M. Thiele, A. Pampinella, E. Tulner, C. Rudeen, E. Likman, J. Hollenbach, V. Minelli.

tion of ideas, so important in modern world relations, is provided for us through the English department's diversified program of study.

Classes in public speaking, drama, journalism, and advanced composition supplement regular classes in literature and grammar. Theatre parties, book seminars and field trips help to illustrate practical applications of our knowledge.

Language is our key to world understanding

Seated: E. Vierheilig, C. Lilien, I. M. Owens, Head; M. House, D. De Cicco. Standing: T. McKenzie, B. Gerber, A. Ruesch, M. Klein, C. Strychniewicz, A. Pelosi, M. Tomporowski, A. Barz, I. Shafer, J. Capozzi.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

More and more students are finding language to be a necessary part of their high school curriculum. All day a conglomeration of foreign sounds is heard through the 300 wing as students struggle through oral exercises. Aided by the language laboratory and the instruction of competent teachers, students gradually master foreign tongues.

Seated: V. Powell, E. Young, J. Dunning, Head; M. McNearney, M. Petretti. Standing: H. Bachmann, W. Krzeminski, C. Baugher, M. Toms, E. Fiedler, V. Toms, J. McMullan, M. VanHassel, W. Zeek, P. Beers.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The mathematics department, headed by Miss Janet Dunning, helps to prepare students for the future with an excellent program that includes General Math, Plane Geometry, Algebra I and II, Senior Math and Selected Topics. This variety of courses gives students necessary basic knowledge of math, provides the challenge of higher math for more interested students and prepares the college-bound student for further study in mathematics.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Students who take science courses are kept busy experimenting and applying scientific principles taught to them by the members of our science department. Working in modern, well-equipped labs, students can demonstrate for themselves the practical applications of their knowledge. A variety of extra-curricular activities supplements the program of study and provides an excellent atmosphere for those who wish to further develop their interest in the sciences.

BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The aim of the business education department, headed by Mr. Diegnan, is to produce students who are well equipped to enter the modern business world. Through courses in stenography, typing, advertising and other business skills, this aim is being fulfilled. These courses are supplemented by practical experience in the art of salesmanship through work in our school store and the decoration of the showcase opposite the school store.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

If you hear a buzzing, sawing and hammering in the 400 wing, you can be sure to find Mr. Holtz, Mr. Siderits, Mr. Fitzpatrick or Mr. Voelkner busily preparing eager students for their chosen vocation. The basic skills of mechanical drawing, metal work and carpentry create a firm foundation for a promising future in the industrial world.

Practical experience

L. Mach, E. Rizzo, E. Wiebler.

J. Fitzpatrick, H. Holtz, C. Voelkner, R. Siderits.

HOME ARTS DEPARTMENT

Members of the home arts department are concerned with the proper management of future homes. Miss Rizzo introduces girls to fundamental techniques of interior decoration and sewing skills. Complete meals are planned and prepared and entertaining is done in the hospitality room under the supervision of Miss Wiebler or Mrs. Mach. This practical experience provides excellent preparation for the homemakers of tomorrow.

First row: I. Pohl, J. Nicodemus, V. Smith, H. Rumana, Head. Second row: H. Boggio, H. Corizzi, J. lacona, W. Woods, M. Moran.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Physical education is more than learning the technique of, and participating in, various sports. It is also learning to appreciate physical activity as a necessary part of life and developing the sense of teamwork which is needed in all undertakings. The physical education department stresses the fundamentals of sportsmanship, which are essential to a successful future, organizes classes and intramural sports and coaches teams. Through physical education we prepare for the future by learning to work harmoniously with others.

A. Albert, J. Tuthill.

ART DEPARTMENT

In a world divided by political ideas and economic conditions, art finds its place as a medium of universal expression. It is a bond uniting all men in their search for beauty and truth. Our teachers aid students in developing and expressing their talents by offering opportunities for increased appreciation in aesthetic areas.

Aesthetic

accomplishment refines

 characterArt students receive thoughtful hints from Mr. Albert.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Music can express a feeling of beauty through sound, and at Ramapo we find this expression full of meaning. Experience in performance, appraisal and appreciation of music are the main objectives of the music department. Competent instructors are prepared to offer instruction in both vocal and instrumental music, not only to the student who elects music as a subject, but also to the student who participates as an extra-curricular member.

F. Taylor, F. Hendrikson, A. Lyon.

Invaluable aids round

 out our curriculumA. Hankins, R. Reager.

READING IMPROVEMENT

Ability to read rapidly and to comprehend what was read is an important asset, not only to the college-bound student, but also to the homemaker and the businessman. The primary goals of Miss Ruth Reager and Mrs. Anne Hankins, the reading improvement instructors, are accomplished by using one of the most adequately equipped laboratories in this area. These increased facilities and student interest improve the effectiveness of this valuable department.

Our librarians, Mrs. Hendrickson and Mrs. Lyon, have done much to make our high schoo! careers easier. They are always willing and able to assist with any needed information. In addition to her duties as a librarian, Mrs. Hendrickson serves as the adviser of the Library Council, teaching students to assist her.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Ramapo's curriculum has recently been extended to include a special education class under the direction of Mr. Matthew Morris. Mr. Morris has repeatedly shown a great deal of patiense and understanding while working with his class.

CUSTODIANS

Mr. Rigg and his efficient custodial staff take great pride in keeping our grounds and school building clean and attractive. Among their many tasks are tending the athletic fields, cleaning classrooms, erecting school projects and frequently coming to the aid of distressed teachers. The friendliness and genuine school spirit of this staff have become an unforgettable part of our high school memories.

"To the stars" is a goal to be attained only by diligent labor on the part of industrious workers, and the members of Ad Astra go about their work with this thought in mind. The staffs put in many tedious hours of writing, posing and planning to achieve their twofold aim: satisfaction for the students and recognition for the school. Mountains of copy and photographs are leveled into a smoothly integrated whole, the proud work of a few and the cherished memory of all.

SERENDIPITY

The wealth of artistic and literary talent harbored by Ramapo students is exhibited each spring in the school literary magazine, Serendipity. A carefully selected staff reviews the work submitted by the students, deciding upon the basis of originality and adeptness which shall be published. The result is a varied collection of poems, stories, essays and pictures that offers many hours of enjoyment.

JUHANI AARTOLA

August 16, 1963, the day Juhani Aartola arrived in Franklin Lakes, marked the beginning of a new experience for Ramapo, as well as for its first American Field Service delegate. Juhani had travelled over 1500 miles from Finland to spend a year with the Howard Keller family of Franklin Lakes.

It is his life with his American family which has perhaps been the most influential of his experiences in the United States. The Keller family has certainly extended itself in every way for Juhani to make his stay a memorable one.

Ramapo's response to Juhani has also been warm. He was eagerly received at the first dance and formally introduced at the first assembly. Since September Juhani has come to be considered much more than a visitor. He proudly boasts his Ramapo jacket and "Go Ramapo" pin and has even been known to groan about homework. In addition to schoolwork, Juhani has participated in a number of extracurricular activities. He has worked as a Rampage photographer and taken part in the Political Discussion Group, American Field Service Club, and senior class projects.

We at Ramapo have been very fortunate to have had Juhani Aartola from Finland with us this year. He has left a part of himself with Ramapo and in the hearts of all who have known him. Ramapo bids Juhani a farewell and a thank you.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

Perhaps the most unique new organization at Ramapo is the American Field Service Club. In sponsoring our exchange student from Finland, Juhani Aartola, and choosing a Ramapo student for education abroad next year, the group has gained a great deal of support from the students and inspired in them an interest in people of other countries. The principal activities of AFS concern the raising of funds for both exchange students. This year the club sponsored a dance and an AFS Week, both highly successful efforts with all-school cooperation.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

In the fall and spring of each year, a few select upperclassmen are recognized by induction into the National Honor Society. Chosen on the basis of outstanding scholarship, character, leadership and service, the students are required to maintain their excellence after obtaining membership. Members also act as tutors for students in all subjects.

CAMERA CLUB

Chemical odors, a soft red glow and bottle-clanking are all parts of a developing session in the Camera Club dark room. Picture-taking is an art, and, in order to produce worthwhile results, the members study shooting techniques, angles and perspective. They later practice developing and enlarging through the trial and error method. Appreciation of beauty and symmetry comes after long hours of practice and enjoyment.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

Films, discussions and guest speakers highlight programs of the Future Nurses Club. An annual field trip to a hospital enables the girls to learn of the diversified career opportunities available. Informal club meetings provide an atmosphere where aspirations may be discussed.

LEADERS CLUB

The Ramapo Athletic Leaders, the girls in the white suits in gym class, are responsible for leading exercises, refereeing games, taking attendance and helping the gym teachers in class. Girls are chosen on the basis of character, leadership and academic ability. Each leader, who is the manager of an intramural sport, also represents Ramapo in sports playdays at other high schools.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Friday morning assemblies offer a welcome diversion from the activities and routines of the rest of the week and usually result in an interesting and often educational hour. The Assembly Committee has the difficult job of providing these programs to satisfy the divergent interests of our student body. Smoothrunning assemblies are a result of much planning and effort behind the scenes.

POLITICAL DISCUSSION GROUP

The Youth Forum presented Fridays on WRRH is a result of the Political Discussion Group's activities. Timely topics, concerning anything from the driving age to the United Nations, are discussed and debated between two people for and two people against the issue at hand. The club as a whole also discusses controversial topics.

JUNIOR CLASS

Under the leadership of Steve Kirk, Jeanne Martin, Bonnie Remo and Sue Patterson, the Class of 1965 has been busy with many and varied projects-mostly fund-raising. Their first undertaking was their sophomore dance, "Swingin' Safari," situated in the wild, ravaging jungles of the cafeteria.

Their junior year began with a Christmas wrapping-paper sale, for which they won a second prize of $$ 200$ in a nation-wide contest. They published a periodical paper called the Junior Informer which reported the progress of class functions to all juniors. Besides contributing to the Pauline Ross Fund, the Class of 1965 also served the school in donating a memorial plaque in honor of the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Raiders end season with winning streak

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Raiders' varsity football team, after dropping its first two games by close scores, bounced back to win five of the remaining six and end with a $5-3$ log. The campaign reached a high spot when Coach Prentice Beers' inspired gridiron men upset leagueleading Pascack Valley in an exciting, tightly fought contest. The gridders also gained permanent possession of the Thanksgiving Day trophy by upending Ramsey in the season's finale.

Ramapo's 1963 diamond squad, despite some great efforts by individual players, failed to develop as an efficient team and finished with a disappointing season. Although Coach Boggio had hoped to better last year's record of $8-6$, all his team could manage was a 4-12 showing. The Raider cause was helped by Ken Juall's 326 hitting and by John McDermott's no-hit pitching for six innings in a 3-1 victory over Pascack Valley.

The Raiders' farm team emerged from the 1963 season with a $7-6-1$ record, but, according to Coach Vincent Minelli, they played better ball than the record indicates. He stated earlier in the season that the pitching and hitting were good, but the club was having trouble with fielding. ## VARSITY GOLF Ramapo's newest varsity team, the golf team, improved the 1962 record of 1-9 with a 2-8 record last year. They had to overcome the problem of finding a place to practice because there are no courses readily available. Only one letterman graduated last year, and this indicates a good season this year. Coach Rheinhardt Siderits will again lose only one letterman before the 1965 season, so he should then have the best team ever.

BOWLING TEAM

Ramapo's bowling team began the season by winning five of its first eight contests and then dropping five straight to stand at 5-8 as of March 1. Coach Charles Port is counting on Drew Denblaker's 174 average to help gain a few more victories for the Raider cause before the season ends

TRACK

A mighty Ramapo track team built up a fine $8-2$ showing for the 1963 campaign. Coach Henry Pohl supervised the cindermen as they set school records in five events. Jim Kelleher starred as he set records in the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard dash of 10.0 seconds and 22.1 seconds, respectively. Other records were Ron Borst's $6^{\prime} 23 / 4^{\prime \prime}$ high jump and Tom Lewerenz's $50^{\prime} 51 / 2^{\prime \prime}$ shotput. The mile relay team raced around the track for a record time of $3: 36$. Altogether, it was a fine season.

Bowling team, 1964; K. Garner, D. Denblaker, C. Port, coach; R. Jackson, R. Scholz.

COLOR GUARD

Football half-time shows have acquired something new this year-a half-time routine by the Color Guard. The team, captained by Donna DeGise, learned special new routines at a camp in the Poconos last summer. The Color Guard, in conjunction with the majorettes, sponsored the Annual Thanksgiving Victory Dance, "The Strutter's Ball."

MAJORETTES

Although the Majorettes perform only during football season, they practice the entire year with their Captain, Marion Soderberg, to perfect their precision routines. During the summer, the Majorettes were part of a group that attended a camp in the Poconos to learn new and different routines.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS
This year's varsity cheerleaders, under Captain Kay Green, have done a good job of demonstrating the "Go Ramapo" spirit. Whether the teams win or lose, the cheerleaders never stop encouraging good sportsmanship. The squad received the "Outstanding Cheerleaders Award" during the Bergen County Holiday Festival.

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The junior varsity cheerleading squad, composed of nine peppy freshmen and sophomore girls, seems to improve each year. With Norma Gow as captain, the girls have sparked the spirit of Ramapo during all of the JV basketball games.
